

Spirit of Season Burns
Bright in Wolfville

Wolfville: Your Christmas Destination this Weekend

For Immediate Release

December 3, 2014

Wolfville, NS – The holiday season continues to burn bright in downtown Wolfville this weekend with an outdoor market, a bustling farmer’s market and delightful stage performances to get everyone into the Christmas spirit.

Experience the magic of a traditional Christmas on Saturday, December 6th from 4:00pm to 7:00pm as Central Avenue, Clock Park and Robie Tufts Park are transformed into Wolfville’s Christmas Market venues.

Central Avenue will feature twenty local vendors with a wide selection of unique and local handmade products and you can indulge in a variety of holiday treats. Meanwhile, in Clock Park enjoy live music as you take part in the silent auction for the community painted Adirondack chairs. Santa, a petting zoo and pony rides will be a hit for children in Robie Tufts Park.

“Downtown will be lively with activities for the entire family,” said Michael Kelly, Manager Tourism and Events, Town of Wolfville. “Join us as we celebrate the Holidays and get into the festive spirit.”

Also Saturday from 8:30am to 1:00pm the Wolfville Farmers’ Market will be busy with festive vendors, entertainment and its annual Get Un-Scrooged event. With a $5 donation to the Wolfville Food Bank, visitors receive a ballot for a chance to win up to $400 of items of your choice from up to fifteen vendors.

Wolfville is a performance destination this weekend too with Cadance Academy’s ninth annual staging of The Nutcracker Saturday, December 6th at 7:pm and Sunday the 7th at 2:pm from the Acadia Festival Theatre, Christmas with Friends hosted by vocalist Rachel MacLean and guests Jimmy Rankin and Ian Sherwood will perform Sunday, December 7th at 7:pm in Acadia’s University Hall.

Wolfville, a cosmopolitan but charming centre, blended with the wine country that surrounds it, provides all the finer things one looks for out of life. The best way to understand Wolfville is to experience it. And those who experience Wolfville do not forget it.

Town of Wolfville and Wolfville Business Development Corporation invite visitors and shoppers to experience Wolfville to shop, dine and be merry this holiday season.
